Poultry and Animals Usually Found on Farms.CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., October 11.—The social and sporting event of the season will be the autumn meeting of the Albemarle County Hunt—a horse show and race meet—to be held next Friday at Madison Park, west of the university. Entries have already been received from Richmond, Warrenton, Orange and Greenwood.There will be two classes in show ring: five classes over natural country over about five fencings; a farmers' race and a woman's barnyard handicap race.Many young women, prominent in social circles, have already entered in the barnyard handicap open to poultry or animals usually found on farms, such as chickens, geese, guineas, turkeys, ducks, pigs, sheep, hogs, cattle, horses, ponies, etc., which must be driven with reins by a woman on foot, each animal to be handicapped accordingly by the judges.The women already entered include the following: Mrs. E. D. Taylor, Mrs.
Sister J. Holloway, Mrs. George E.
Walker, Mrs. Morris Watson, Miss Ellie Wood, Mrs. Miller, Miss Leslie Woods, Miss Peekham, Miss Davis, Misses Berta and
